1. It appears that "to" (first occurrence) on page 8, line 5 should be "two".

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for providing capability for simultaneous rotation of a heel support about the heel-toe axis of the patient's foot and also transverse movement with respect to that axis by employing a tilt lever arm 32, does not reasonably provide enablement for this simultaneous movement by other means. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Waters (5,979,067). Waters discloses the basic claimed apparatus to align or position a foot to permit an orthotic device to be fabricated including (1) a heel support and a front foot rest positioned substantially level therewith and in front of the heel support to define a heel-toe axis in front of the heel support, and (2) the heel support being mounted on a heel adjustment means arranged to pivot the heel support about the heel-toe axis (note Figure 5, for example). It is submitted that the heel support of Waters is inherently capable of simultaneously moving the heel support transverse to the heel-toe axis because that axis itself will change or be moved whenever the rear plate 51 is adjusted by a therapist (column 6, lines 5-8) without also adjusting front plate 52, or adjusting plate 52 by rotation in an opposite direction.

Waters discloses a front foot support also able to be rotated, as in claim 2, and a foot plate, as in claim 4.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Waters (5,979,067). Waters discloses the basic claimed apparatus. The examiner takes Official Notice that providing stirrups is known for preventing unwanted movement of a foot during evaluation of a foot's physical condition and also that providing a deformable liner is known in order to support the plantar surface of a patient's foot (note Peterson (4,747,989) cited by applicant).

6. Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Claims 11-16 are allowed.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Allan Kuhns whose telephone number is (571) 272-1202. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Thursday from 7:00 to 5:30.
